6. BASIC PRINCIPLES

Double Major Programs are offered upon the proposal of the relevant College Academic Council with the approval of the University Academic Council.

All undergraduate students who specified double major conditions in the regulation on the transition between Associate and undergraduate programs, double major, minor and Inter-Institutional credit transfer and the additional conditions determined by the faculties, can apply for a double major program except for the major programs.

7. METHOD

7.1 Conditions for application and admittance into the Double Major Program

- 7.1.1 Students can apply to the double major program according to the class they are in, considering the number of credits they completed in the major Program, at the beginning of the first academic semester of the second year at the earliest, at the beginning of the first academic semester of the third year at the latest. (For the Faculty of Medicine, at the beginning of the first academic semester of the fifth year at the latest.)
- 7.1.2 Students who want to start a Double Major Program can apply for a double major program within the periods announced in the academic calendar for each semester, provided that they have the success requirements by examining the last semester courses they have completed.
- 7.1.3 To begin the double major program, the student must have successfully completed successfully all graded courses taken until they start the second major program. With the notable exception of UNIV 101, ALIS 100, CPAP 100 / DOS 171, CPAP 150 and HIST 100 courses, receiving "unsatisfactory" grades from 1-credit courses shall not constitute an obstacle to application to double major programs.

7.1.4 A student can not register for more than one double major program at the same time.

7.1.5 Acceptance of students into the second major program occur upon the proposal of the relevant department that runs the program with the approval of the College Executive Council.

7.1.6 Students who at the time of application have a cumulative grade point average of 70 out of 100 (2.72/4.00) and whose success ranks in the top 20% of the cohort of the relevant major program can apply to the second major diploma program. The capacity of students to be admitted shall be determined by the University Academic Council. Among those students who do not possess this ranking, those who have a University Entrance Exam score that is not lower than the threshold score of the double major program in the relevant year can apply.

7.1.7 Students whose GPA is at least 2.72 over 4.00 can apply to the second major diploma program. The student who wants to do double major in the programs that require success ranking must have the success ranking requirement determined by the Higher Education Council of the related program in the year of enrollment among other conditions.

For students who want to start a Double Major Program in the programs listed below, the success rank established in the ÖSYS (Student Selection and Placement Examination) capacity handbook of the relevant year will be considered. The success ranking information that appears in the 2019 handbook is listed below: Law: 190,000 Medicine: 50,000 Engineering: 300,000 Starting with 2020-2021 academic year however, the success rank for Law School will be updated to read as 125,000.

7.2 Credit Load

The courses and credits to be taken in the double major program of the student are determined with the approval of the senate with the recommendation of the relevant departments and faculty boards, taking consideration the Higher Education Program Competencies determined by the Higher Education Council. The credits of the courses in either program or of the associated courses are counted to the amount of credit that must be completed for both the major and the second major programs.

7.3 Standing and Program Completion Conditions

7.3.1 Students who complete a double major program successfully and earn two undergraduate degrees shall be provided with two undergraduate diplomas.

7.3.2 Students who complete a second major program shall receive their diplomas for the program in question only after they graduate from the major program they are pursuing.

7.3.3 Students who have completed the major program and who continue in the second major diploma program, are given their major program diploma. In this situation, all courses that the student took until graduation are shown on the transcript. To graduate from the double major program, the student are responsible for having the cumulative grade point average conditions stipulated in Article 7.4.

7.3.4 In case scholarship students registered in the double major program do not complete their major or second major programs within 8 semesters, the duration of their scholarship is extended by a maximum of 2 semesters. The extension of scholarship in case of double major does not cover Nursing School undergraduate program students who are matriculated in 2023 and later.

7.3.5 In case program requirements are not met at the end of this duration, students may continue to attend the program by paying the non-scholarship tuition fee.

7.3.6 Students who complete the major program and continue the second major program, during the extended
